Every time you fly, you see them: “crop circles” made by those engineering marvels called center pivots. But you may not know the role pivots have had in the past – and the future – for data-driven farming. Valley, Nebraska, is the birthplace of Valmont Industries, Inc. and is still the home of Valley Irrigation.

Valley founded the entire center pivot industry in 1954. On this tour you will see where we’ve come from and get a peek at where we are going. From our industry-best structures to our innovative and integrated technology, Valley solutions helps growers around the world produce more to feed and clothe the world while using fewer resources.

Valley is pleased to make this opportunity available and share their history of thought leadership with a new generation of engineers.

Tour Requirements: Participants must be 16 years or older, able to take the walking tour and manage stairs, wear closed toe shoes, and no shorts. No backpacks will be permitted at the company sites (you can leave bags on the bus). All tour attendees are responsible for their personal property. While on the tour, taking pictures is not allowed, except as noted by the tour guides.

Cost: $35 per person. Includes: Roundtrip transportation between CHI Convention Center and Valley Irrigation.
